

PLATE LXXXIII.

HASTIGERINA.

	Diam.	Page
Figures 1-8.— Hastigerina pelagica , d'Orbigny, sp.,		613
Fig. 1. Living specimen; the spinous shell enveloped in a lobulated mass of sarcode, with pseudo- podia extended. From a drawing by Mr. Wild,	x	43
Fig. 2. From a fresh specimen, drawn by Mr. Wild, .	x	47
Figs. 3, 4. From specimens mounted in glycerine, .	x	50
Figs. 5-8. Dead and empty shells, in the worn and broken condition in which they are usually found in bottom-dredgings,	x	50